

Dying Is Not An Option

Trinity Cathedral - November 23, 2008

Dr. Jeff Spiess
Medical Director
Hospice of the Western Reserve
JSpiess@hospicewr.org

Curious Thing, Amy Grant

There was this guy; he was down on his luck,
He was truly poverty's child.
Well, he had no home and he had no car
And he wore a weary smile.
Moved out to L.A., knocked around for a while
But he was going nowhere.
Then he did this movie and it did really well,
Now he's a millionaire.
You see life is a curious thing.

I know a man who could paint the town red,
Had a college degree in fun
'Til the doorbell rang and a long lost flame said,
"This little boy is your son."
Gave him a suitcase and a bear,
Left them in a cloud of dust.
Now he's checking out schools and driving carpools,
Learning to adjust.
He says, "Life is a curious thing."

Well I know that it can be demanding,
I know that it can be unkind,
I don't really understand it,
But, Lord sure knows I try.
See, life is a curious thing.

Let me tell you 'bout a kid I knew,
Pudgy girl back in school.
She had greasy hair and geeky glasses,
The object of ridicule.
The other day in the checkout line
They were ringing up my rice and beans.
There she was, a pretty little face
On the cover of a magazine.
And I said, "Life is a curious thing."
I know that it can be demanding,
I know that it can be unkind,
I don't really understand it,
But, Lord sure knows I try.

Just goes to show that you never know
Just what tomorrow may bring.
But I'll tell you this, that what it is
Is seldom what it seems.
'Cause life is a curious thing.

Material possessions

1 _____
2 _____
3 _____
4 _____
5 _____

Activities

1 _____
2 _____
3 _____
4 _____
5 _____

Body Parts

1 _____
2 _____
3 _____
4 _____
5 _____

Values

1 _____
2 _____
3 _____
4 _____
5 _____

People

1 _____
2 _____
3 _____
4 _____
5 _____